

DASA: The Investigatory Process

This session includes revised content which allows for more case studies, information on restorative justice, practice interviewing, and a round table portion. Specifics regarding ELL investigations and crisis intervention as part of the interview process are also included. Through examples, role-plays, and group discussion, participants receive hands-on experience collecting evidence, conducting an interview, and writing a final report. Participants are also exposed to the legal requirements of the DASA investigation.
