

Leadership Development for Supervisors and Managers (Facilities, Food Service and Transportation)

Ultimately, a leader is judged on his or her effectiveness in creating a successful department team. This workshop begins by exploring the leader's role in helping all team members embrace the mission. It also covers how to respectfully establish clear expectations for performance and hold all staff accountable for results, as well as how to establish and maintain professional relations with colleagues. The objective is to create a learning department in which employees assume ownership for results and for their own professional growth.
