About Louis Berger

Founded in 1953, and now with more than 6,000 employees, Louis Berger is globally recognized in consulting and engineering. Our New York City industrial hygiene management staff alone brings over 200 years of environmental indoor air quality (IAQ) and engineering investigation experience serving seven comprehensive environmental on-call New York contracts.

While we pride ourselves on being a strong local New Jersey resource, the core of our response strength comes from handling full-service, on-call environmental contracts throughout the New York/New Jersey Metropolitan area daily. This comprehensive experience translates into more experienced project managers and field staff able to respond quickly, with the most up-to-date screening/sampling equipment available, and at the most reasonable prices.

Industrial Hygiene

Our proven industrial hygiene/IAQ and safety services division brings responsiveness, capability, and reasonable pricing to move any EHS project expeditiously through the due diligence, exposure assessment, and/or OSHA documentation process.
