

Manhattanville College Doctoral Program in Educational Leadership

In partnership with Putnam | Northern Westchester BOCES

Admissions Underway Fall 2017 - Cohort IX

With over 100 outstanding doctoral students currently enrolled, we are delighted to report that Cohorts I through VIII are thriving with seventeen doctoral students graduating this May. The purpose of the Manhattanville College Doctoral Program in Educational Leadership is to meet the needs of mid-career professionals who already have leadership experience in public or private schools. Students will complete a three-year program of study that tightly integrates course work, field experiences and applied research. The focus is on preparing leaders to work in changing suburbs and small cities. The signature pedagogy is problem-based learning. The doctoral program experiences are organized around five themes: leading learning organizations, becoming a sophisticated practitioner-scholar, developing self and others, participating in professional and policy-making communities and facilitating responsive education programs. The program offers the option to do a three-article dissertation or a traditional five-chapter dissertation.

As we accept a limited number of students for each cohort, we suggest if you are interested in the program that you begin the application process at your earliest convenience. Candidates must submit their complete application, resume, writing sample and application fee along with GRE or MAT scores as these are required.

Classes will be held on Tuesday evenings from 4:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m. Please be advised that for the fall and spring, classes are held at Putnam/Northern Westchester BOCES in Yorktown Heights. For the summer, classes will be offered on the Manhattanville College campus. The Doctoral Program has its own summer sessions, usually starting in the last week of May and ending by the first week of August.

Feel free to contact me at rgargano@pnwboces.org should you have any further questions about the program. Please contact Jeanine Pardey-Levine at jeanine.pardey-levine@mville.edu regarding admissions questions.
